

The woefully inadequate and unbalanced news coverage of the significant anti-war sentiment among our citizenry should serve as a clear warning about the dangers inherent in consolidated ownership and control of the media.